ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and system for analyzing web access. First, a plurality of web log records are received. Next, multi-dimensional summary information is generated based on the web log records. Then, derivation and analysis are performed to discover usage patterns and rules for supporting business intelligence by using the multi-dimensional summary information.